“Education is simply the soul of a society as it passes from one generation to another.”

Gilbert Chesterton

Dear Dr. Seemiller,

I thoroughly enjoyed myself and consider it an honor and a privilege to have had the chance to attend your presentation

Who is Generation Z?

last Thursday night in the PAC.

As I briefly mentioned to you in the lobby, I do presentations for the community on the subject of generations, and discuss ways that employers can help create environments that allow all generations to thrive within the same environment. What you presented was new information for me, and I appreciated learning something new on the subject.

In my position as the Chancellor, I interact with students quite often on campus, and I see much of what you said in action each and every day. To me, the members of Generation Z are kinder, more sincere, are somewhat nicer, and yet, as indicative seem to be lonelier than those in other generations. I believe we can all work together strategically to bring out the very best of them within this environment, helping them to find their way, to find their purpose, to find their passions, and to find their path, so that their full potential can be realized.

Thank you again for spending so much time with us. You have certainly ignited ideas, enlightened minds, helped us to focus on what we have in common, as well as celebrating differences. I hope you have a great spring semester, which I am confident you will because your attitude is positive, energetic and enthusiastic.

We look forward to having you back on campus, perhaps for our fall convocation, where you can further ignite thinking and help us to build community.

With Highest Regard,
